

Sports Data Journalist - Handball

Together with EHF and Sportradar, we are offering a freelance position for acquired Handball fans interested in assisting us to collect statistics and match data in real time at the venue from matches across the European Handball Federation's top club competitions.

After successfully passing an online training process, payment will be made on a match by match basis by Sportradar

Job responsibilities

- Attend Handball matches for statistic and data gathering in real time at the venue.
- Applicants have to know the rules and the teams, but do not need to be handball experts.
- Understanding and demonstrable experience with modern communication devices.
- Comply with the moral code of the profession.
- Observe throw-off times, venue details and inform Sportradar when there are changes.

Professional requirements

- Good English skills (written and verbal) as well as full-aged.
- Good country-specific sports knowledge.
- Located in the country where matches will be played.
- Minimum age of 18 years
- High standards of professionalism, integrity and morality.
- Good observation and analytical skills. High attention to detail.

Please contact us on EHFrecruitment@sportradar.com stating your interest in the role and your local club and we will provide further information regarding the job.

